His Reported Engagement to the Actress Suddenly Broken Off.

Bogus Count of That Name Has Been Accused of Swindling in This City.

DENIAL IN HIS PRESENCE.

The Wealthy Actress Declares the Report That She Is to Become Countess Rado Is Untrue.

The announcement of the marriage of Miss Carrie Ewald and Count Julian W. Rado was confirmed yesterday by Miss Ewald in a letter to the Journal. Last night Mr. Rado, who says he is not a Count, denied that there was any engagement, and Miss Ewald stated in his presence that there was no engagement.

Possibly the facts brought to Miss Ewald's attention concerning a bogus "Count Rado," with a swindling record in this city and Hungary, led to the sudden calling off of the previously admitted engagement.

It was reported yesterday that Miss Carrie Ewald, until recently a member of the Frohman company, playing "The Masqueraders," was to be married on February 6 to Count Charles Julian Rado, of Budapest, Hungary. It was claimed that the wedding was the

CANNOT ASSIST SPAIN

Washington, Jan. 1.—Senator C. K. Davis, of Minnesota, said:

"I do not think there should be any apprehension on the part of the people of this country over the reported agreement between Olney and the Spanish Government. Mr. Cleveland would be powerless to assist Spain in putting down the Cuban insurrection, as the people of this country would not permit such a usurpation of great power."

WEYLER FEELS HAPPY.

Gravely Announces That He Has "Crushed the Insurrection" in Pinar del Rio.

Havana, Jan. 1.—A reporter of the Diario de la Marina has had an interview with Captain-General Weyler in the Mata Toro camp. Of the situation in the Province of Pinar del Rio, General Weyler said that, speaking from the standpoint of strength and importance, the insurrection in that province had been crushed. The few insurgents remaining were obliged to hide like wolves in their caves, and fevers and smallpox had thinned the Cuban ranks.

His own column and those of the other Spanish commanders, he said, had overrun the base and interior of the hills and had met no Cubans. The insurgents, since the death of Maceo, have been without a leader, said the General, and Rivera, Maceo's successor, was unpopular among his men.

General Weyler added that his statements would be confirmed after Generals Melgarejo and Arcelus had completed their operations, which included the sweeping of the province from west to east. Generals Hernandez, Velazco, Obregon, Bernal, Riez, Fuentes and Segura are now, he said, in the centre of the hills, perhaps. General Arolas is also there. Once the SCORES GROVER'S ACT.

Washington, Jan. 1.—Representative Edgar Wilson, of Idaho, said: "Since reading the Madrid dispatch in the Journal I am convinced that Grover Cleveland is anxious to expatriate himself from America and become a citizen of Spain. I cannot understand how a President of this country could be induced to enter into an agreement with the butcher monarchy of Spain to crush out the existence of a band of patriots, who, like our own colonists in 1776, fight to throw off the yoke of oppression and tyranny."

THINK IT A MURDER.

Brooklyn Police Arrest Nine Italians Following the Death of Vito Lauzina.

Vito Lauzina, an Italian junkman, died last night at his home, No. 211 York street, Brooklyn, under strange circumstances. There is doubt as to whether he was assaulted or met with an accident.

Lauzina, who had made several New Year's calls during the day, left her home at 6 p. m. to call on Thomas Macaroni, a shoemaker, who lives at York and Gold streets. Reaching the house he drank to his friend's health, and then left with Tony Caraco, one of Macaroni's workmen. The latter returned about twenty minutes later. In response to his employer's query as to whether Lauzina reached home safely Caraco said: "I left him talking to a few old women outside."

Shortly before 7 o'clock Joseph Schiebell, thirty-seven years old, of No. 138 Hudson avenue, found Lauzina a very short distance from Macaroni's shop. He was leaning against a Brooklyn elevated road post bleeding from the mouth. An ambulance was summoned from the Taken Off in a Stanch Little Tug and A Attempt Will Be Made to Land the Men and Valuable Stores.

False Report That All the Members of the Party Been Drowned Sent Out from Madrid to Deter Other Like Sallies.

By Ralph D. Faine.

On Board Filibuster, Dec. 28, via Key West, Fla., Dec. 29.—The expedition carried by the steamer Three Friends from Fernandina on the 1 December 13 failed in its two attempts to land. After the sea fight with Spanish gunboats off the River San Juan on December 19, the filibusters to put ashore her men and arms in the Cienaga Del Zapata, but was to do so, and was forced to put back to Key West for coal in the face of a heavy gale.

The run home was on a course of 1,100 miles, giving Cape San Antonio the widest possible berth, as Spanish cruisers were flocking to head off the filibusters, which had fired upon and beaten off the Spanish flag.

romantic outcome of an acquaintance commencing at the Arion ball, given at the Madison Square Garden last Winter, Miss Ewald, according to rumor, appeared as a sea nymph and the Count as a prince of the fifteenth century. The prince was captivated by the sea nymph and asked for and received an introduction to the nymph, which resulted in the young actress abandoning her profession and promising to become his bride.

Count Rado is said to be the son of Prince Rado, of Buda-Pesth, who is shortly to start for this country to meet the Countess-elect and to be present at the ceremony. Miss Ewald is the daughter of a wealthy Jersey City stationer, and lives at No. 338 York street, Jersey City. When a call was made at Miss Ewald's home yesterday she declined to be seen, but wrote a note stating that the report of the marriage was true.

Her mother was seen, and she denied the story that Miss Ewald and the "Count" had come acquainted at the Arion ball. She said she had never heard either her daughter or Mr. Rado say that he was a Count, but admitted that she had heard him spoken of as the "Count."

Rubi Hills were fortified a severe blow might be directed against the insurgents under Ducassis. General Weyler said in conclusion that he would allow no houses to be built on the outskirts of the towns, as were they constructed they would serve mostly as refuges for bandits.

DIED MAKING NEW YEAR CALL.

W. Sauerlander Suddenly Stricken in Mrs. Kate Schneider's Home.

William Sauerlander, fifty-two years old, of No. 223 East Fifty-fifth street, while making a New Year's call on Mrs. Kate Schneider, at No. 203 East Fifty-fifth street, last night, was taken sick and died before medical aid reached him.

Heart failure is said to have caused his death.

LEE JUSTIFIED HIS ACTION.

Nearly Killed One of His Tormenters and the Justice Would Not Hold Him.

John Lee, who lives with his wife and three children in the tenement house, No. 76 North Fifth street, Williamsburg, served with dispossess papers on Thursday. The other tenants in the house are all of another nationality, and when it became known among them that the Lees must move there was much rejoicing. Several of the tenants got drunk in celebration of the event Thursday night. While in this condition, they went to the Lee apartments and insulted Mrs. Lee. The woman's husband seized a poker and made an attack upon the intruders. As he struck out with the weapon it fell with much force on the head of George Lee.

dispatches from Mr. Creelman have created a stir. The sensation is decidedly profound. The plain statement that the President and his Secretary of State are in secret arrangement with Spain to suppress Cuban revolt was not unsuspected here. But it had never received decisive and authoritative setting forth until it came in this morning's paper. To-day the Creelman dispatch was the one topic among both diplomats and home officials, without reference to the arm of government to which the latter belonged.

The Journal's Madrid story is almost as widely believed as it has been widely read. It has excited, too, the unmeasured wrath of both Cleveland and Olney, as well as much and testy uneasiness at the Spanish Legation. Nothing could have more aided the cause of Cuban liberty at this crisis, when debate in the Senate on the Cameron resolution sets in on the 5th, than this story from Madrid. It is for that Cleveland and Olney smoke with rage and De Lome is troubled.

While the story has general credence, it is not one about which public men like to talk. The charge of conspiracy between Cleveland and Spain is not a light one. Men hesitate to be heard on it in confirmation. But it has occurred to many that just such a conspiracy is exactly in line with "regeneration impulses."

Homeopathic Hospital, but Lauzina died before it arrived.

As soon as the news of the man's death reached the Fulton Street Station House a swarm of policemen were sent out to make arrests. By 9 o'clock seven men were arrested. Caraco, Schiebell, Macaroni and Mazzini were held as witnesses.

MAY BE A NOTED BURGLAR.

Police of Dallas, Tex., Believe Their Prisoner Is Wanted Here.

Dallas, Texas, Jan. 1.—A burglar giving the name of Charles Wilson, Butte City, Mon., was discovered robbing the house of Eugene Crowdis, a wholesale druggist. When surprised he jumped from an upper window, and as he fled to the street, was knocked down by a passing hack driver. Citizens took him to Police Headquarters. A long-bladed dagger, a sharp-pointed chisel and a pair of costly opera glasses were found on his person. In a small book he had entries bearing dates commencing in July last, mentioning a person named Haspy, at Koster & Blal's, New York.

Chief of Police Arnold said to-night that he is sure "Wilson" is an alias of the prisoner, and that he is one of the most daring and dangerous burglars in the United States. He declines to make public his identity until he can communicate with the police departments of New York and other cities, looking to the capture of criminals operating with "Wilson."

Runaway in Central Park.

A horse attached to a light wagon, containing M. Gasper and a woman, ran away on the West Drive, in Central Park, opposite Sixty-second street, yesterday afternoon.

The expedition was landed on a key thirty miles from Key West on Wednesday, December 21. The men built camps and settled an indefinite stay. The key was a mangrove swamp, without water, partly suffered extremely, being without water for two days and by every high tide which might sweep clear over the low island.

Suffered Tortures on the Key.

Provisions ran short, and the whole experience from the lack of water and other hardships was terrible. The location of the expedition known in Key West, but there was no interference from United States forces.

On December 26 the men were moved to Pine Key, where there was land and fresh water, and where two schooner loads of provisions had been brought from Key West, so that affairs were brighter. Last night steamer arrived to take off the expedition. The party had settled down long stay, not knowing when they would be taken off, and the coming second steamer was hailed with great joy.

The work of loading the cargo went on through the night, and the noon everything was on board, and the filibuster was ready for sea.

Again on the Way to Cuba.

I am writing these last words as the steamer is weighing anchor for Cuba. I have been nearly a month en route for Cuba, ten days at sea, with the sea fight as a detail, and more than a week hidden in the swamps of the Florida keys.

The Journal sword which I am bearing to General Gomez has had a baptism of fire and all sorts of other vicissitudes, but it will reach the Commander safely in the end, I am sure.

The friends of Cuba will welcome these tidings that the Three Friends expedition, which means much to the cause, is again starting for the struggle of a patriotic people, carrying valuable aid.
